SELLERS CHOOSES OFFICERS

Community Organization Is Completed at Enthusiastic Meeting Friday Night.

An enthusiastic group of citizens including all members of the board of trustees and the principal, E. T. Poole, of the Sellers school district, met Friday night of last week to complete the community organization. Some time ago a meeting was held when three officers were chosen, namely, Harrison Harriel, president; Alcide Necaise, vice-pres., and Mrs. Robert Shaw, secretary. Friday night the chairman of the five standing committees were elected as follows: agriculture, Calvin Shaw; home makers, Mrs. Fred Shaw; health, Miss Elizabeth Harriel; boys and girls work, Mrs. A. E. Shaw and E. T. Poole; program, Joe Necaise.

The two county agents, Miss Mayme O'Dom and Frank B. Pittman, were present and directed the organization in accordance with the plan set down by J. M. Dean, community organization expert of the A. & M. College extension department.

At the close of the business session D .E. Lauderburn, state forester, who wa present, made a fine address on Growing Trees. He had a number of posters and other data with him relating to forestation and these were used in illustration of his lecture. In the afternoon he had visited several forestry plots in the community and he used these as basis of discussion. showing the possibilities of Hancock county for successful growing of trees as a porfitable crop.

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

(By Our Society Editor)

THREE HOSTESSES GIVE BRIDGE PARTY.

Three Bay St. Louis hostesses, Mrs. Milton Philiips, Mrs. Walter Gex, Jr., and Miss Stella Gex, graciously entertained Wednesday afternoon at a lovely bridge party at the Inn by the Sea. Sixteen tables of players assembled for this party. To receive their guests Mrs. Phillips wore a pretty gown of flowered georgette, Mrs. Gex wore a frock of new blue georgette and Miss Gex was dressed in a delicate pink flowered georgette. Each wore corsages of roses. Gladioilas were used in happy arrangement to decorate where the party was McAtee of Mobile; second went to given. SPAGHETTI SUPPER.

Mrs. A. P. Smith, Mrs. Leo Seal and Mrs. Jas. A. Evans were hostesses Saturday night at a most enjoyable picnic spaghetti supper, which was served on the Smith pier. This pier is a pleasant place for such an informal party and adequate room for a long table is found on the pier. The delicious viands were served steaming hot as a stove had been set us on the pier. This is the first of a series of suppers which this group of ladies are planning. Those present Saturday night were: Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Partridge, Dr. and Mrs. C .M. Shipp, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Walter Gex, Jr., Mesdames E. J. Leonhard, S. A. Power, and John Davis of St. Louis, Misses Mary Perkins ,Hermie Perkins and Beatrice Smith, Val Yates, Mr and Mrs. Seal, Dr. and Mrs. Evans and Dr. and Mrs. Smith.

COMPLIMENTS TWO.

Mrs. E. J. Leonhard entertained Saturday afternoon at a pleasant three table bridge party complimenting Mrs. A. K. Roy who leaves soon for Portland, Ore., and Mrs. John Davis of St. Louis, popular guest of Mrs. S. A. Power who leaves next month for Europe. Lovely summer flowers [illegible] the reception rooms. A de[illegible] game of bridge was enjoyed. [illegible] won high score prize and Mrs. John Davis won second prize. Charming gifts were presented to the two honor guests. The hostess served a tempting party menu.

LUNCHEON-BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. A. F. Fournier entertained the three table luncheon bridge club at her home Thursday, serving a perfectly appointed menu. A lovely guest at this party was Mrs. Briggs of Pharr, Texas, a former Coast resident who is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Harold Weston.

AFTERNNON CLUB.

Miss Beatrice Smith was hostess Thursday afternoon to a pleasant meeting of the young ladies three table bridge club entertaining at her home on North Beach Boulevard. A happy game was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served.

PICNIC BRIDGE.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. J. C. Buckley for an unusual entertainment, a picnic bridge which she will give Wednesday of next week at the Swayze pavilion on South Beach Boulevard.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert DeBen entertained a few friends informally Wednesday night at their home on Beach Boulevard, on the occasion of Mr. DeBen's birthday.

KILN DIST. ACTIVE IN NEW HERDS

Community Organization Is Alive to Necessity of Eliminating Scrub Breeds.

Kiln Community Organization held its regular, Semi-monthly meeting Tuesday night. There was an average crowd to enjoy the interesting program rendered.

J. R. Wolfe, president of the organization talked on "Cooperation in the Organization" and what could be attained by it. Then all enjoyed the Musical numbers consisting of violin solos by Cornelius Favre, with Monie Anderson accompanist. The last number of the program was an address by H. I. Harris, Picayune, Miss., on the subject of a "Balanced System of Farming for South Mississippi."

In the business meeting of the organization, the committee yearly plans for the organization were read and adopted. These plans occur elsewhere in this issue. It was agreed to urge the cooperation of the community as a whole in carrying out these plans. Especial emphasis was put upon cooperation in getting rid of scrub sires, which are preventing any systematic improvement in livestock, and which are a menace to the few breeds who really try to improve their herds.

Arrangements were made for members of the organization to visit the pasture improvements at the McNeill Experiment Station Saturday, May 25.

The following program will be rendered on Tuesday night, June 4, at 8 o'clock.

1. A talk on best methods of canning Fruits, Beans, Corn, and Meats by Mrs. C. A. Wagner, Kiln.
2. Music—Violin by Cornelius Favre and Saxaphone by Leroy Ory.
3. Benefits of Lining Soil—Discussed by members of the Organization.

Every body near Kiln is cordially invited to attend these programs, and to become members of the community organization.

3 RACES PLANNED FOR BAY

Out board Motor Boat Races Will be Held Here June 16, July 28 and Aug. 25.

With the approach of the summer season preparations for summer entertainments and sports are being made, prominent among these being outboard motor boat races, a sport which proved so popular last summer.

C. A. Breath, Sr., of Breath and Cue, agents for Johnson Seahorse outboard motors, announces that three races will be held at Bay St. Louis during the summer ,the first to take place June 16, the second July 28 and the third August 25. At least three classes of boats will be entered at each race, class B, class C and free for all, and it is probable that other classes will be added, Mr. Breath said. Trophies will be awarded for each class.

At the July race boats will again compete for the handsome Weston cup awarded last year for the first time. This trophy must be won by the same skipper two years in succession t obe retained permanently. There are no qualifications regarding the boat or type of motor, the award going to the same skipper for two seasons. This cup is now held by Arthur Duvic of New Orleans who won it last year.

FORRESTER TOURS HANCOCK COUNTY VISITING PLOTS

D. E. Lauderburn of A. & M. College Extension Department. Spent Friday Here.

D. E. Lauderburn of A. & M. College Extension Department, made a tour of various sections of Hancock county Friday of last week in company with Miss Mayme O'Dom, home demonstration agent. They left from Bay St. Louis Friday morning, visited Waveland and Lakeshore. At the latter place Mr. Lauderburn gave demonstrations to groups of the 4-H club girls and boys and principal of the school, Albert McQueen, showing the growth of a tree, its age and the number of fires it had survived. A visit was made to Ansley, Logtown and Flat Top, and thence to Leetown. Lunch was enjoyed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rester. In the afternoon Otho Rester took Mr. Lauderburn to visit three forestry plots in this neighborhood, that belonging to Pat Lee, James Rester and Leonard Lee. Mr. Lauderburn was much interested in these plots and made some photographs. While Mr. Lauderburn was visiting these forestry plots, Miss O'Dom held a meeting with the Leetown home demontration women at the school. In the late afternoon Mr. Lauderburn and Miss O'Dom visited at Necaise Crossing and in the Sellers community where visits were made to several forestry plots. At the night meeting they joined Frank B. Pittman, farm agent, and attended the reorganization meeting of the Sellers Community Organization, at which time Mr. Lauderburn spoke on Growing Trees.

FOR REPEAL OF B'NK LAW THAT FAILS

Cashier Leo W. Seal Stresses on Growing Sentiment Over State—R. L. Genin Speaks.

Considerable interest was manifested in the splendid talks before the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday noon, when the Pass Christian club broke bread with the local club at the Hotel Weston on the occasion of the annual inter-city meet.

Leo W. Seal, executive cashier of the Hancock County Bank, delivered an address on the inequality and falaciousness of the Mississippi Guaranty Banking law, which he said placed a burden on the successful banks and proved a menace to safety. He said the State superintendent of banks avowedly disapproved of the measure, stating that the plan intended to salvage bad banks had proven a disastrous failure inasmuch there was now arrears of over three million dollars over a period since the law went into effect about 1915. It was not so intended, he stated, but the measure had proven one of the strongest social istic tendencies. Mr. Seal said while the sentiment over the State was for repeal, that did not mean, however, to do away with the banking board and its stringent supervision of banks. In fact, he said, we court the most severe surveilliace of banks by legal authority.

City Attorney, R. L. Genin, was the next speaker, by previous invitation of the club, his subject to the effect why lawyers defended criminals and others. His handling of the subject displayed logic and was well received. He argued that under our code of law, no man was guilty until so proven and that the burden of proof was on the State. Mr. Genin is a fluent and engaging speaker and his discourse on an uusual subject, was interesting.

DEATH OF EDWARD BEYER.

Funeral Sunday at Cedar Rest Cemetery—Ceremony by Local Masonic Fraternity.

Funeral rites for Edward Beyer, who died at his home in New Orleans Saturday morning, tok place Sunday forenoon in Bay St. Louis, at Cedar Rest Cemetery, under auspices of Bay St. Louis Masonic Lodge, and was largely attended, witnessing the beautiful and impressive ceremony.

The assembly of a large number of friends and profusions of floral offerings of sympathy well testified to the high esteem in which the deceased was held, both in New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, a former resident of this city.

Mr. Beyer had been ill and was well again when a sudden heart attack proved fatal. Mr. Beyer and family were preparing to leave for Bay St. Louis within a day or two to reside here again. The news of his death was received with much sorrow.

He is survived by his widow, nee Miss Laura Fayard, of Bay St. Louis, and one daughter, Mrs. John Francis and three sons, all by a former marriage. A step son, Nolan Peyroux, also survives.

Mrs. Beyer and family have the deepest sympathy of many friends both here and in New Orleans as well as elsewhere, for Mr. Beyer was both widely and well known.

REV. CLARK DELIVERS ADDRESS

Baccalaurate Sermon Was Given at Central High School Auditorium Sunday.

The members of the senior class of the Central high school held their baccalaureate service Sunday morning in the school auditorium. Rev. C. C. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist church, was chosen to deliver the sermon. A representative congregation and parents and relatives of the graduates were in attendance to hear the very fine address which Rev. Clark delivered on the subject :Whatsoever Thou Spendest More." The opening prayer was given by Rev. W. S. Allen, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Prof. S. J. Ingram, superintendent of schools presided.

In his introduction Rev. Clark said he liked to talk to youth. He stated that the ideal for which Christ came to earth. namely peace on earth, had not been realized in the 2000 years since his birth, that the old people had failed in this work and it was left for the youth to undertake the task. He impressed on the boys and girls that they can build a world of peace from warfare as well as from economic strife.

The law of return was stated in terms suitable to illustration, namely, that what we give returns to us in like proportion, so that a person who succeeds well must give more. He quoted the example of the boy and the echo, in which good words returned to him when he spoke good words and bad words came back when he spoke wrongly. He told of the ten lepers who were healed by Jesus, only one of whom returned to thank Him and this one had his sins forgiven. He had given more.

The speaker suggested that one choose an adequate ideal in life, showing how Paul through choosing Jesus as his ideal continues to live in history while emperors and philosophers are forgotten.

The call to service is a call to preparation, he said, explaining that the unprepared man is not called to do great things, and citing how God trained Moses 80 years for 40 years of service, how Paul was educated in the highest schools of the land in order to be the great apostle for spreading the gospel, showing that John Wesley was prepared for his organization work by the best education of his time. He impressed the youth with the value of education as a training for service in life.

Honesty was impressed as a necessary ideal and guide of conduct. The example of Abraham Lincoln who was known as "Honest Abe" was told, in two stories of this great man's honesty.

"We are not ambitious enough. We are too easily satisfied," he said.

He closed by stating: "The history of civilization is the history of great men. The history of great men is the history of their ideal hours realized in conduct and character." He told the story of John Milton who decided as a boy of 12 to write an immortal poem, showing how he went through Cambridge without a stain on his character, lived a blameless life wrote his immortal poems, Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained, and when on his death bed still followed his ideal saying, "still guides the heavenly vision." Returning to the adequate ideal he showed that the heavenly vision guided Jesus from his miraculous birth, through his ministry, to the cross, to the grave and then into the welcoming heavens.

PROMINENT CITIZEN IS DEAD.

John N. Stewart, was Head of Cotton Firm at N. O. and Well-Known Bay Summer Resident.

John Nelson Stewart, head of Stewart Brothers Cotton Company, Inc., at New Orleans, and well-known Bay St. Louis summer resident for many years, died at an early hour Saturday morning of a sudden heart attack at the family residence, 1837 Napoleon avenue, and was buried at Metairie cemetery Sunday afternoon.

The fatal stroke was preceded by a siege with pneumonia last year and a heart attack Wednesday night. He rallied, however, from the first attack and was thought Friday night to be much improved. Just before daybreak Saturday he was stricken again and died shortly afterward.

Mr. Stewart ,who was 60 years old, was born in New Orleans and joined the cotton firm founded by his father Andrew Stewart, shortly after graduation from Tulane university. With his brothers, William and Andrew Stewart, he developed the company into one of the largest in the city, dividing it into two departments, one for cotton and the other to handle factor and export business. The elder Stewart and his son, William, served as presidents of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

Survivors of John N. Stewart are his widow, formerly Miss Edwa Hellwege; two sons, John N. Stewart, Jr., and Peter Hellwege Stewart, one daughter, Mrs. Charles Farwell, Jr., and two brothers, William and Andrew Stewart.

Mr. Stewart and family were regular summer residents for many years, first at Waveland and in later years Bay St. Louis.

ST. MARGARET'S DAUGHTERS WILL AID AT CENTER

Mrs. J. J. Ritayik, Chairman of Board of Blenk Memorial, Conferes With Committee.

The Bay St. Louis Circle of St. Margaret's Daughters has been invited to participate in the conduct of the recreational center of the organization, the Hubert H. Blenk Memorial home on the beach at Waveland, this invitation coming through Mrs. J. J. Ritayik of New Orleans and Waveland, who was elected chairman of the board of this home at the recent convention in New Orleans. Mrs. Ritayik spent two days in Bay St. Louis this week conferring with a committee from the local circle.

The local committee includes Mrs. E. J. Lacoste, Mrs. G. Y. Blaize, Mrs. George Boh and Mrs. H. A. Leche, who were appointed by Mrs. Ritayik Tentative plans were made at the conference Monday afternoon to arrange for a chapel at the memorial home where a resident priest can spend the summer and administer to the large number of children and mothers who will be guests of the organization there during the summer months. Also it is hoped that a number of high dignitaries of the Catholic church from Louisiana and Mississippi will visit the memorial during the summer.

A number of matters in which the local committee can assist the New Orleans board and committee were discussed. The local women are complimented at this mark of respect from the New Orleans board and pledged every assistance during the summer.

"THE VALIANT," IS STRIKINGLY ORIGINAL AND TENSE DRAMA

Rich In Human Appeal—All Talkie For Sunday and Monday at A. & G.

Striking in its originality of theme and deeply moving in its tense drama and spoken lines, "The Valiant," Fox movietone and all-talkie, will be the big feature showing at the A. & G. Theater on Sunday and Monday nights.

Indicative of the intensely human note that is struck in the motivation and dialog of this most unusual screen offering is the fact that although the leading character, portrayed by Paul Muni, is introduced through his confession of a murder and thereafter is seen only in a felon's role, he wins and holds the sympathies of the audience to their very last glimpse of this valiant figure.

Indeed, it is high-minded and purposeful attitude toward his family —to save his mother and sister from heartbreak and shame by cloaking his identity—that makes the striking title fit so well the atmosphere of the drama. It has its origin in a Shakespearean couplet that he has chosen as his motto:

"The coward dies a thousand times;
The valiant taste of death but once."

Marguerite Churchill is seen in the other featured role—that of a young girl who visits the mystery slayer in prison to assure herself he is not her long-missing brother, and thus ease her ailing mother's troubled heart. In her trying interview with the condemned man, a few minutes before the electric chair is to claim him, Miss Churchill's artistry is intensely moving and measures well up to the careful and impressive performance of Paul Muni, whose lenghtly stage experience speaks in his every line and action.

REPORT GOOD CONVENTION

Three members of the Bay St. Louis Circle of St. Margaret's Daughters attended the annual convention of this organization in New Orleans, May 11 and 12, namely, Mrs. G. Y. B'aize, Mrs. John A. Green and Mrs. George Boh. They report a very successful meeting and were highly gratified at the many complimentary remarks made at the convention to the work of the Bay St. Louis circle. The annual report of the lcoal circle's work which was read at the convention attracted favorable attention and mention.

Will Attend Graduation

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Bliaze, Miss Julia Blaize, Reginald Blaize, Jr., and John D. Blaize, will leave Sunday by motor for the University of Alabama to witness the graduation there of Miss Regina Blaize, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Balize, who has made a fine record at college.

HEAD OF ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION TO SPEAK

Dr. George E. Vincent, chairman Rockefeller Foundation of New York City, will speak at Gulfside, Waveland, June 5, at 3 P. M., at the first formal health conference for negroes of the South, the conference meeting June 4-6.

HONORS ARE DIVIDED AT CLOSE CAMPAIGN'S GREATEST VOTE PERIOD

The Race is Now On In Earnest and Candidates Have Splendid Chance of Winning Biggest Prizes Ever Given By A Newspaper—End of Remarkable Campaign In Sight.

HERE ARE THE REAL LIVE WIRES

Miss Mary Scafide, City	15,800
Mrs. A. J. Surdich, Kiln,	55,000
Mrs. G. Gueydan, City	50,000
Mrs. J. S. Shaw, RR 1, City	59,000
Mrs. Milton Sylvester, City	18,000
Miss Agnes Bourgeois, City	6,600
Miss Edwina Haas, Waveland	6,800
Mrs .E. Casanova, Logtown	5,000
Miss Ida Cuevas, R, 1, City	38,000
Miss Clare Slavich, City	57,000

The closing of the biggest vote period last Saturday night stamped unmistakably this great campaign as a grand and glorious success. Votes flowed in by the millions from Bay St. Louis and from every section of the county. But candidates must realize that what they did last week must look small to them compared to what they will accomplish this week.

The campaign is on. It is on in earnest now. The time is short and the awards are great. The pace is hot and getting hotter. Notwithstanding the fact that we urged some candidates to get far out in the lead and make sure of an automobile all were content to stay closely grouped with their opponents. It simply means that every candidate is now practically on an even basis with other candidates. This week may widen the margin of votes between candidates and it may not. It depends on who can do the most.

Success is not in seeing an opportunity, it is in takeing advantage of one when you see it. Study your vote schedule and get every vote you possibly can now while the second and last big vote period is in effect.

Open Evenings

With the campaign now in full swing the Campaign office will remain open Wednesday and Saturday evenings. All candidates must report on Wednesday and Saturday.

Candidates Are Grouped

While those candidates far up in the list last week were relaxing their efforts those down the line were exerting every effort and the result is at this time that only a handful of votes separate high and low contenders. Any candidate in the entire list can with a little extra effort at this time overbalance any lead that any candidate may have and easily land at the top of the list before Saturday night. The next publication may show some very marked changes in the standing.

Bristling With Opportunities

The present period just bristles with opportunity, the foundation for the future success of any candidate can be laid right now. In fact if one is really in earnest in her quest of success she will make the most of the inducements now offered. If you are consistent in your ambition to own a motor car, the time to put in your best efforts is now. This holds true both of the person who is still considering entry and of the candidate who is already enrolled. If you are listed but have not started to work—make your start today. Why handicap yourself with a late start when you can get in today and start on an equal footing with every other candidate.

Lists Create Interest

Each succeeding list of candidates is heightening the interest of competitors and their hundreds of friends. Every candidate is watching these lists to note her progress as compared to other candidates, and their friends are lining up with their subscriptions to see them through to victory.

The fabulous awards to be gained are only a part of the attraction in a campaign of this kind, there is also an exhilaration and zest to it that would not be experienced outside of a big political race.

NEW MILL BUILT AND OPERATING

Coburn L. Weston as President Heads Recently Organization Bay Coast Lumber Company

Bay St. Louis has a new industry in the form of a new mill for the in the form of a new mill for the where both a retail and wholesale lumber business will be conducted. This new industry is the Bay Coast Lumber Company and is located at the foot of Main street three miles from Bay St. Louis, both the mill and office being recently built.

Coburn L. Weston is president of the new company; D. L. Russ is vice-president, and Nolan M. Smith is secretary-treasurer. These are all lumbermen, Mr. Russ particularly being fitted to handle a mill from his 28 years with the Weston Lumber Company.

Work on building the mill and office began some two months ago and is now completed. Operation of the mill began about two weeks ago and is now engaged in sawing lumber. The mill is primarily an export mill but a wholesale and retail business will be conducted there.

"We expect sufficient timber holdings to furnish the will with several years cut," Mr. Weston stated.

BENEFIT BALL FOR BAY FIRE COMPANY SATURDAY, JUNE 1

A benefit ball will be given on Saturday, June 1, at Woodmen Hall by the Bay St. Louis Fire Company and for the benefit of its treasury. Such a cause is self-appealing from every angle of local citizenship and for further and better protection of property. One dollar will admit a couple, or, 75 cents for gentlemen and 25 cents for ladies.

Committee of arrangements is composed of Mayor Chas. Traub, Sr., Dr. James A. Evans, August Sentinelli, John Beuhler, G. E. Templet, Charles A. Breath, Sr.

For the occasion the committee has secured original jazz and, accordingly Labat's Jazz Band will discourse music for the evening. Thousands will read this notice. Among the number some will wish to send their personal check or other contribution, and may do so.

WILL GRADUATE

Invitations for the commencement exercises at the University of Mississippi are being received by Coast friends of Miss J. Oleah Mauffray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. O. Mauffray, who will receive her bachelor of arts degree this year. The commencement begins Sunday, June 2 and continues through Tuesday morning. The commencement sermon will be preached by Rev. Frederick Fernando Brown of Knoxville, Tenn. Class Day exercises will be held Monday morning, 10 o'clock. The annual alumni meeting will be held 3 o'clock Monday afternoon and at 7 o'clock that night the reunion banquet will be held. Tuesday morning, 10 o'clock, diplomas will be conferred. Dr. Marvin Holloman Brown of Texas, will deliver the baccalaureate address.

Will Motor to Miami.

A party including Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith, Misses Beatrice, Elsie, Shirley and A. P. Jr., of Bay St. Louis and Dr. Smith's mother, Mrs. Jessie Smith of Brookhaven, will leave by motor next week for a tour of Florida, going as far as Miami They plan to be away ten days or two weeks.

Loses Nephew.

Many expressions of sympathy have been extended to John A. Green in the loss of his nephew, Harold Dowling of Gulfport, who died Saturday afternoon in a hospital at St. Louis where he had gone to attend a convention and had been taken ill and underwent an operation, dying later. The body was shipped to Gulfport arriving Monday morning and the funeral was conducted in the afternoon. Among those from Bay St. Louis attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Green, Mises Margaret and Genevieve Green, Frank Green, Rev. Leo Fahey, Miss Agnes Shannon, Miss Lottie Cuneo, Mrs. P. Tarut, Misses Emma and Ida Edwards, Misses Levia and Miriam Engman and Waldo Otis.

DEATH OF LOVELY YOUNG GIRL.

A message carrying much sorrow was that from New Orleans Friday announcing the passing away of Ida Marje Prados, aged 17 years, lovely daughter of Rufus H. Prados and Ida Amelia Ragan, who passed away at the home of her parents at 4218 Prytania street. The deceased had long been seriously ill with an affection of the heart and her passing away was not altogether unexpected, nevertheless it was a shock to the many friends of the family both in New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, having resided in this city for a number of years. The bereaved parents and members of their family have the deepest sympathy of all who know them in this time when the shadows seem to have gathered heaviest over their lives.

Entered as Second-Class Matter at the Postoffice, at Bay St. Louis, Miss., under Act of March 3, 1879.

If Mr. Raskob will only figure out a way to for the poor man to have some surplus money the p. m. might be interested in his new stock-selling scheme.

Our extra slice of pie for this week is awarded the worker, who, when the whistle blows, merely says, "I haven't finished this work so I might as well complete it before I go."

Confidentially, we have our own opinion of the man who takes this paper out of the post-office, until a bill comes, and then writes: "I thought you would stop it immdiately upon expiration."

Again there is much talk in the offing of another railroad coming to the Coast. The Echo understands while the details are not for publication, the fact-to-be has passed the proposition stage and is, as the French say, a "fact unaccomplished."

There is considerable talk hereabouts, and it is given out with some semblance of authority of the building of a race track at or near Pine Hills, to be conducted under auspices that make the 'sports of kings" permissable. The dog races proved a big drawing card for the Coast this winter.

The social war about Mrs. Gann continues to gain some attention. It seems that Mrs. Longworth, the wife of the Speaker, calculates that she ought to outrank the official hostess of the vice-president an dhas served notice that she will not attend functions unless she does. So far there has been no change from the quasi-buck-passing ruling of the Secretary of State, although something may flare up along this line any week.

ADVERTISING AN INVESTMENT

The proper attitude towards newspaper advertising is exhibited by Mr. B. Fred Cullen, president of the Educator Biscuit Company, who advises business to look upon advertising as an investment. It is not a get-rich-quick scheme as the results are cummulative and steadily persist in building up business. Says Mr. Cullen: "Newspaper advertising is the best medium through whch to appeal to the housewife."

"We are firmly of the belief that the advertising we did in the newspapers last month is helping the advertising that we are doing in the newspapers ths month. And we believe that the advertising we are doing this month will also help next month's advertising to succeed.

"But money spent in advertising should be looked upon as an investment," he said. "We used to think that if we spent $1000 for advertising we ought to get it back right away. We found, however, that we cannot expect to get it back overnight, and anyone who thinks that is flirting with get-rich-quick ideas. It cannot be done."

ABOUT THE COST

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, after investigation, asserts that prohibition cost this country $936,000,000 in 1928. This is a big sum, if it is correctly estimated. The way it is derived follows:

Federal Enforcement (less fines)	$ 36,000,000
Loss in federal revenue	850,000,000
Loss in state and municipal revenue	50,000,000

The wets think the experiment rather expensive. The drys, on the other hand, question the big item of federal revenue loss, saying that prohibition adds to the wealth of the country, each year, much more than that sum. All that we can say is that the reader is entitled to his choice, and that the figures will have little or nothing to do with the argument.

ROAD MATTER NEEDS MORE STUDY

The Greenwood Commonwealth also agrees that a special session would be futile and that newspaper, too, mentions what it might cost the taxpayers, "A special session for the sole consideration of roads will be a futile one, involving nothing but useless bickering and a waste of money, for the road problem has not yet received sufficient study by the legislators to permit intelligent action. The legislature will not pass any road measure until the problem has been thoroughly studied, both as to manner of financing and location of the necessary roads.

"Mississippi," continues the Commonwealth, "spent $200,000 on one fruitless session of the legislature last year; another will merely serve to increase that amount without anything being accomplished."

FOOLISH, SAYS MERIDIAN STAR

Editor Skewes of the Meridian Star has compassion on the "long-suffering average Mississippian," who during these days perhaps needs compassion more than at any other time. In an editorial headed "Foolish," The Meridian Star says, "According to state capitol reports, Governor Bilbo plans to call an extra good roads session of the Mississippi legislature. We are sorry—not for the sake of Mr. Bilbo, but for the sake of the long-suffering average Mississippian.

"Not that we do not want good roads—we need them. Our very prosperity and happiness depends on good roads. Nevertheless, the cost of a special session at this time seems altogether out of keeping with the prospective benefit—and [illegible]."

CREATE, PRESERVE AND PROTECT BEAUTY

If there is one thing The Echo would wish to stress among other things, it is don't forget the value of the natural beauty that abounds hereabouts on the Mississippi Gulf Coast and more particularly in what is commonly known as the Bay-Waveland district. We are so apt to take these things for granted, to believe that we can treat them any fashion, and that they will always remain.

The Echo is interested in preserving the beauties of nature that exist here now. True we have already lost many of our beautiful oak trees of inestimable beauty and value, but let this rather be a lesson than a regret since we cannot remedy. We would be glad to see all civic and other organizations—and we feel they are already disposed this way—take this matter under advisement, to the end that a concerted program of public thought would tend to protect our lawns, shrubs, plants and flowers.

Really it ought to be safe for a property holder in the Bay-Waveland section beautify his premises. He ought to be able to realize, with absolute confidence, that in doing his part to the beautification of this section that he has the active support of every man, woman and child. He ought to positively know his own mind that others will have a proper regard for his efforts and help him in his task.

No man or woman can foresee the wonderful change that would be brought if every property owner set replace bare places with beauty. It would make about, systematically, year in and year out, to Bay St. Louis and vicinity a marked place, set it apart from the careless communities, where unthinking people disregard the need for beauty and fail to realize its great worth to a people.

END OF SCHOOL MEANS BEGINNING

Schools all over the United States are closing, that is, closing their scholastic year. Every county, every city, including our own, is sending forth from school scores of young men and women, many of whom received their last formal scholastic training.

To the graduates of the schools who will continue their studies in universities, etc., the closing of school is not as important an event in life as to the larger number who will begin to work, leaving behind them the organized paths of knowledge.

It is important, however, as we see it, that these high school graduates, who have no hope of college, get the right idea of their own future. There is no reason for them to believe that their "learning" days are over.

Some of the best educated men and women are those who went to no college, and many missed a high school. Besides, we must remember, that a student only gets out of school a measure of what the student's character contributes. This being so, and no one disputes it, the non-college man or woman, busy through life, can continue to acquire intelligent aids to full living by maintaining an acquisitive and investigating mind. Of course, let it be noted, we do not disparage the higher education and training—far from it.

Let us all realize, more fully than ever, that we know very little. While mankind has made wonderful progress along the path of human intelligence the field of wisdom has been barely scratched and many things remain to be unfolded to the human intellect. Let us always continue to pursue the truth.

SMOKES VERSUS CANDY

We feel certain that many of our readers have noticed the advertising contest between tobacco and candy. The fight started when the manufacturers of Lucky Strikes inaugurated a widespread advertising campaign with its slogan, "Reach for a Lucky Instead of a Sweet."

Candy manufacturers resented this attack upon their industry. Another cigarette company, making Old Golds, countered with advertisements suggesting the use and enjoyment of both. Candy manufacturers formed a Protective Committee which has taken the offensive. It has protested against broadcasting programs which allow cigarette manufacturers to claim the "benefits" of cigarettes. The candy people attack the truthfulness of the cigarette claims while upholding the wholesome qualities of their own food.

The contest is illustrative of modern ways to increase sales. At bottom, neither the cigarette companies nor the candy people are concerned with the health of the American people. They are only seeking to stimulate sales.

FORMER FOES IN CONGRESS

It is interesting to observe that the present Congress includes two veterans of the titanic struggle that rocked this country in the middle of the last century. Senator Francis E. Warren, of Montana, served as a corporal with the Union forces, winning distinction, being today the proud wearer of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

In the other house sits Representative Charles M. Stedman, of North Carolina, who served with Robert E. Lee until the end came at Appomatox. We have not the pleasure of the acquaintance of these gentlemen but we doubt if either of them approves the raucous spirit that occasionally moves some survivors of the struggle.

That these men sit in the Congress of the United States, with the respect of their colleagues, is increasing evidence of the happy reunion which has come to bless a country that was torn by sectional warfare.

MORE SENSE THAN HUMOR

Will Rogers, as a humorist, is fine. On many occasion he is wise as well as funny. Says he:

"See in Washington dispatches that the Democrats are planning to take the wet side and make a direct issue of prohibition in '32. Why a man should dig his grave three years before he is buried is almost unexplainable. I spent three years in forty-eight states kidding and joking on both sides of prohibition, and if you think this country [illegible]

Cotton Comes Back.
Capper Backs Farm Bill.
Coolidge is Early.
Why Famers Laugh.

Cotton growers will be glad to hear that big department stores are specialing in cotton goods. "Cotton arrives" is the announcement of one store, biggest in New York, doing about $90,000,000 a year.

"Dotted swiss," "pigne" and "ginghams" are featured energetically.

"Often woman changes," the French say. Real or imitation silks have been the rage; now King Cotton comes back.

If Americans will advertise, and emphasize, "Cotton goods grown and made in America," instead of advertising "British cotton cloth," that will help.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, trusted by farmers, backs President Hoover's farm bill. He opposes the debenture subsidy plan, which would pay a bonus to exporting middlemen, cost the taxpayers heavily, and do the farmer little, if any, good.

Calvin Coolidge, as director of the New York Life Insurance Company, arrived twenty minutes ahead of time for his first director's meeting.

"Seest thou a man diligent in his business ,he shall stand before Kings.".

The former President is interested in life insurance, not for profit, but for possibilities of public service. His day's work yesterday paid $50; not much according to present ideas. But it is fifty times as much as Mr. Coolidge's father paid the black-headed giant who earned in the Coolidge blacksmith shop $1 a day fifty years ago.

Tears and laughter afford relief. Loud laughter, violent weeping, cause the mind to rest and bring temporary peace.

There will be farm-relief laughter in news that railroads have consented to lower freight rates on wheat flour from the Middle West to the Atlantic.

The notion that farmers will get more for their wheat when flour mills pay lower freight bills will make the saddest farmer laugh.

Relief for flour manufacturers is welcome. They are having a hard time, with chain stores regulating their profits.

But charging them ten cents less a barrel for shipping flour will not cause them to give farmers two cents a bushel more for wheat.

Relief for farmers and for many others will come from generally increased prosperity, and especially from sharing national wealth more widely.

American farmers once sold corn for less than the amount of the tariff now proposed.

Prisons have changed. One ancient hero, solitary in prison, had to encourage him only the example of a humble spider spinning and respinning a web as fast as it was torn down.

A well known oil magnate, jailed because he wouldn't answer Senators' questions, has the deeper, pleasanter inspiration of a blonde trained nurse.

In the Medical Department of the jail, this blonde lady works for the sick and suffering, and says to her oil man assistant, worth $100,000,000, "Please hand me that iodine," or "Watch how I fix this bandage."

Much can be learned in such an atmosphere.

COMPLIMENT RETIRING PRESIDENT OF P.-T. A.

The Central Parent-Teachers Association expressed its appreciation to Mrs. C. C. McDonald, retiring president who has served the organization for two years and who is now county chairman of the P.-T. A., in a charming manner at the last meeting of the scholastic year by presenting her with a basket of lovely flowers in token of grateful thanks for the wonderful manner in which she had served the organization. The presentation was made at the musical program which the Shubert Music Club arranged at the Central school auditorium as the National Music Week observation.

Donald Marshall, president of the school boarld, made the presentation of the flowers on behalf of the P.-T. A., telling of the splendid work done by the local organization under Mrs. McDonald's presidency, mentioning some of the outstanding work accomplished including the beautification of the campus, the equipment of the home science department and the pre-school clinic.

In gracious manner Mrs. McDonald expressed her pleasure in this lovely courtesy on the part of the P.-T. A., a courtesy which was a complete surprise to the recipient.

L. & N. MAGAZINE GIVES BAY ST. LOUIS STATION OPENING FINE WRITE-UP

L. & N. For Bay St. Louis and Bay St. Louis For L. & N.—Agent John A. Green Signally and Deservedly Honored—Outstanding Event.

Of the many outstanding features appearing in the current number of the L. & N. Magazine, published monthly at Louisville, Ky., none is more outstanding and of more interest than the illustrated story telling of the formal opening of the Bay St. Louis depot.

Through the courtesy of the Magazine, we are able to reproduce the article and illustrations, and value the consideration unfailingly given Bay St. Louis by the "Old Reliable" L. & N. The story follows:

Saturday evening, April 20, marked a gala occasion for Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and the L. & N. Railroad. The new two story stucco depot erected for the L. &N. by Lionel Favret, general contractor of New Orleans, was formally opened.

The people of Bay St. Louis had watched the progress of the work with a great deal of interest and shortly before its completion informed Agent John A. Green that they desired to show and express their appreciation with a short ceremony and entertainment; accordingly the date was set and Mr. Green turned the depot over to the city officers, Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

The old station at Bay St. Louis, destroyed by fire March 8, 1928.

About 7:00 p. m., a large crowd started to gather and before the evening was over reached five or six hundred in number, men, women and children. A great many L. & N. employes from points along the division were also present. Excellent music was furnished by Saucier's Orchestra, local syncopators. The entire building was lighted up and thrown open to the public. Baskets and bouquest of flowers were numerous and Agent Green received many telegrams of congratulations and gifts for his office and desk. The ladies of the committee were kept busily engaged serving punch from a large bowl under the shed.

After inspection of the building had been made by all, chairs were placed on the concrete platform and the guests were seated, whereupon C. C. McDonald, well known merchant of Bay St. Louis, and president of the Chamber of Commerce, rapped for order. Mr. McDonald ,acting as chairman, praised the magnificent edifice which the L. & N. had built for the people of Bay St. Louis to use and enjoy. He then introduced Mississippi's silver-tongued orator, Senator Carl Marshall—son of the late Charles Marshall, for many years superintendent of the N. O. & M. Division—who had been selected to express the appreciation of the people of Bay St. Louis to the L. & N. Railroad Company.

Senator Marshall held his audience spell-bound and quoting the gerat James J. Hill stated that next to religion, railroads had done more than anything else toward the promotion and advancement of civilization and that the L. & N. in like manner had contributed to the advancement of the Mississippi Coast. He praised the transportation industry as a whole and the L. & N. in particular for its excellent service rendered to the people of Bay St. Louis, laying great stress on the fact that not a single passenger had ever been killed in a train wreck on the N. O. & M. Division. In finishing, Mr. Marshall in beautiful language thanked the L. & N. Railroad Company and Colonel Morton for the new and magnificent station building and grounds.

Chairman McDonald in his delightful manner next introduced our genial superintendent, Colonel L. L. Morton, who held his own with the eloquent speakers of the evening. Colonel Morton stated that the building and improvements had cost the L. & N. around $70.000.00 but that he had confidence in the people of Bay St. Louis, and felt that they would respond with all of their business. He praised the work of Lionel Favret who was present and said the L. & N. was proud to build a fine depot in Bay St .Louis. Mississippi.

The applause accorded Colonel Morton showed well the appreciation of the crowd and residents and the growing friendly feeling toward the L. & N. Railroad.

AGENT GREEN

Agent J. A. Green, Bay St. Louis, with loving cup and flowers presented to him at the opening of his new station.

Next on the program Chairman McDonald introduced Emile J. Gex, local attorney for the L. & N. at Bay St. Louis, who in a touching speech lauded the fifty-four years of service and faithfulness of Agent John A .Green, speaking highly of Mr. Green as a citizen of Bay St. Louis and a fair and just representative of the L. & N. Railroad Company. He then presented Mr. Green with a large and handsome loving cup engraved with his name and in appreciation of his long service, the gift of his many friends in Bay St. Louis. Mr. Green in his cordial manner thanked Mr. Gex and his audience stating that he felt everyone present was just a member of his family.

Chairman McDonald stated that he could not close without a few timely remarks from one of the oldest citizens who came to Bay St. Louis before there was a depot, fell off the train and rolled in a sawdust pile. Joseph O. Mauffray was then called on and drew a number of laughs from the audience; also praised the L. & N. and its officers for bringing the division accountant and his force to Bay St. Louis, and for building the new depot. He stated the L. & N. was for Bay St. Louis and that Bay St. Louis must be for the L. & N.

The affair ended just as the Pan-American rolled into the station at 10:00 p. m.

GUIDEPOSTS TO Health and Happiness

By Bernarr Macfadden

TRY THIS THE NEXT TIME YOU HAVE A COLD.

Much has been said and written on the subject of colds, and yet most people are pitifully ignorant about their cause and cure. There are several moss-grown theories as to how we catch cold: wet feet, draughts, insufficient clothing, and so on.

The orthodox physician will tell you that: "Whenever the surface of the body is suddenly chilled, the skin-vessels are contracted and those of internal parts are reflexly dilated; hence internal organs tend to become congested and, if excessive, inflammation, sets in, constitute what is called a cold." That is all very true—so far as it goes.

A cold is also caused by improper breathing, plus certain other conditions.

It must be remembered that we are constantly putting into our body fuel, in the form of food, and we are usually putting in more than we can burn up. Even the exact quantity needed by the system calls for certain materials that should have been eliminated remain in the blood. And the person whose system is loaded with those materials is extremely susceptible to colds. The poison-laden blood fills the capillaries of the resitory membranes, and, not meeting the required oxygen to burn it up, it is retained, causing congestion. That is why a cold usually appears in the lungs.

So much for the cause of colds. Having "caught a cold," what is the first thing a person does?

He usually flees to a warm place, whereas he should do just the opposite. Should he flee to a cold place he would at once begin to breathe deeply. Deep breathing would increase the supply of oxygen and help to eliminate the above mentioned poisonous material in the blood.

Since a cold implies impurities in the system, the cure must be in the direction of elimination. Plenty of fluids is an excellent means. Both hot and cold baths are good in some cases. The shock of the cold bath causes profound deep breathing, which continues as long as the body [illegible] the filling of the surface capillaries with blood, thus relieving the central portion of the body from congestion.

It has been said by many physicians that a cold is caused by some invading germ taking advantage of a rundown condition. According to this theory then, a strong person should be immune to colds,, while the weak person would have one continued cold. And yet every day we see husky, robust men and women suffering from colds.

So far the much discussed "cold germ" has eluded science; even if it were isolated, it would not destroy the above theory.

But the truly wise person will take a greater interest in cold prevention, which is best achieved by remembering that when we take into the body more food than the body can burn up, we are adding poisons to the blood which must be eliminated.

The Sheridan Dramatic Club, of which Tom Bilbeck, the narrator, Maryella, the girl he cares for, and Jim Cooper, his rival, are members, are to give Pygmalion and Galatea, at the Old Soldiers' Home. Mr. Hemmingway, husband of one of the actresses, thinks Bilbeck is in love with his wife. The escape of prisoners from the local penitentiary keeps Bilbeck busy at his newspaper work, so that he gets away from the dramatic group. But Maryella summons him, and starts telling the story of "Dollyana" who believes that everything that happens turns out to be for the best.

The players arrive at the Old Soldiers' Home, being greeted royally and meeting Pink Henwether and others.

The Play at the Old Soldiers' Home is interrupted because of a fire, the players and veterans escaping.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"Then it's all for the best," piped Jim Cooper cheerfully.

It is easier to be optimistic when you are warm.

"Maybe we had better start home," I suggested, thinking apprehensively of those thiry long miles to town. "With the snow falling fast it may get too deep for traction pretty soon."

"You're right," echoed Jim. 'Let's hurry. We can take off our makeup after we get home."

By great good luck we had left our outer wraps i nthe main building. Therefore we were able to bundle up warmly enough. I had a long, heavy fur-lined driving-coat that covered me from head to heels.

The Lillilove bus got away first, although Mrs. Lillilove herself elected to return with us. I had no nonfreezing solution in my radiator so I had let the water out as soon as we arrived, and now had to fill it up before I could start.

Grandmother responded nobly to the first turn of the crank. I mentally thanked her for not misbehaving on an occasion which seemed almost to good for balky motor to miss.

The old soliders crowded to the doors to sse us off. Without the opposition of the band Grandmother Page did herself proud. We started off amid a riot of sounds similar to those made by a terrier hunting for a rat in a pile of rusty stove-pipes. From that I could tell that the engine was working perfectly.

I don't quite understand how the drivers of these up-to-date, silent cars can locate trouble. Everything is so thoroughly muffled that as far as I am concerned it is impossible to tell how many cylinders are firing. With Grandmother Page there is no room for doubt.

If she fox-trots I know that only three charges are being exploded; if she does a buck and wing it is alternately two and three; but if the racket is practically constant I can rest easy in the knowledge that she is doing her very best on all four.

Above the noise of the motor could be heard only the farewell of Comrade Pilk Henwether. He probably had not heard the sham battle going on on beneath Grandmother's hood.

"Good-bye" he yelled with his excellent lungs and highly trained vocal organs. "Don't feel bad about the fire, because it was a lot better than the show!"

That man just radiated tact. It's too bad he could not have been in on the diplomatic courtesies that preceded the European War. The trouble could have been so easily averted by having the representatives of the powers draw lots to see which would kill him!

It was a beautiful night even if the snow was falling so thickly that it was impossible to see thirty feet ahead of the car. There is no peace like that of a snow storm, no purity like that on earth in a fresh blanket. It seemed a shame to put tracks in the clean, glistening expanse.

Maryella, snugly wrapped in warm robes, sat beside me the car was running smoothly, and there was a long drive ahead of us. What more could I ask? It was all for the best.

In the midst of such pleasant ruminations I noted hastily a dark object in the road. I turned quickly to avoid it and my lights illuminated another object directly in our path. I put on the brakes and stopped just in time to escape running down a man who stood immovable.

CHAPTER VII.

More Trouble.

What was the matter with him? The answer flashed upon me when I noticed that in either hand he held a revolver. It was a hold-up!

I gasped with surprise. So did Grandmother Page. I had forgotten to feed her gasoline enough, and the motor stopped.

"Get out," directed the man with the guns briefly.

Needless to say we did, and lined up in the customary attitude before him and his fellow highwayman with our hands elevated above our heads.

Instead of going through us as we expected, one of the men climbed into the front seat and adjusted the spark preparatory to starting.

Then I knew who they were and why they had stopped us. They were escaped convicts from the penitentiary, and they wanted the car to get away in!

It was a good scheme. They would leave tracks had to distinguish, and could out distance local pursuit.

"Cuss!" exclaimed the highwayman who was in the car.

"What's the trouble, Bill?" the other one queried—without, however taking his eye or the muzzle of his gun away from us.

"There ain't any electric starter on this car."

Jim Cooper laughed.

"You'll have to get a new car, Tom. When even highwaymen criticize it you have to admit it's getting out of date."

"Shut up," commanded our guard. I mentally applauded him.

Can't you start her anyway, Bill?"

"Sure, I can start her all right," Bill stated confidently.

It is grand to approach a motor in that frame of mind, especially in cold weather. If there is anything in this theory of the superiority of mind over matter it is certainly correct to hold a hopeful though when about to crank a car.

Biill grumbled a little though at having to turn the engine over by hand. We went out in front of the car and grasped the handle firmly

"When I get her going, Julius," Bill said before cranking, "you make a quick jump for the car and we'll be off before anybody can start anything."

"All right," assented Julius.

All arrangements for the getaway completed, Bill cranked the car. He cranked it several times, in fact, without any definite result. Grandmother Page was behaving like a brick—like a load of bricks, one might say. She would respond to none but the hand of her master ,and to the ministrations of another she only gurgled.

"What's the matter ,Bill? Can't you start her?" questioned Jim Cooper sympathetically. "Probably it is all for the best, Bill. This will teach you to be patient and will likewise develop the muscles. If you would devote the same amount of energy to the pursuit of an upright and noble life you would doubtless become president of the United States some day. Think, Bill, of how this life of crime has aged your poor old mother. Think of your mother, Bill!"

Bill exploded at last.

"If that guy let sout another chirp, Julius, plug him!"

Jim subsided, but from time to time thereafter he writhed with eagerness to offer suggestions and comments. He just naturally cannot keep from lending a helping hand in everyone else's business.

He means well, too. I do not doubt but that Jim Cooper is one of the best hearted men in the world; but by the time he has helped half a dozen times in something you want to do by yourself you get to dread his appearance on the scene.

Bill's temper had not been improved any by Jim's earnest advice. He twisted the crank savagely and then delivered a violent kick on the radiator.

"Who owns this piece of junk anyway?" he demanded, at last approaching our group. "Is it yours?"

He pointed to Jim.

"It is not," Jim disclaimed hastily. "You couldn't give it to me on a bet."

I made a mental resolve to square up with him sometime for his scornful comment. No man likes to have the things that he owns ridiculed. Grandmother might no have all the modern attachments, but I loved every bolt in her body.

"Then you must be the guy," Bill said, indicating me. "You come here and start your car."

Now, I ha dno particular desire to have Grandmother Page kidnapped. It seemed simple enough to make a perfunctory effort and tell them it would not go. So I monkeyed with the levers aimlessly and cranked a couple of times. I did not prime the cylinders with gasoline and stuff a glove in the airintake, as I knew I would have to do to get her to respond.

"She wont start," I announced.

Bill swore.

Jim Cooper smothered a strident laugh.

"What are you laughing at," Bill demanded harshly.

"Because," Jim returned, "Tom says he can start that car in any kind of weather when no one else can."

How cheerfully I could have throttled Jim for that asinine repetition of my footless boast!

"So you've been stalling, have you?"

Bill turned upon me savagely.

"Now you start her; understand? No monkey business. If she's running in two minutes we may not blow your brains out."

Something in his tone convinced me that Bill was in earnest. I lifted the hood, primed the cylinders, stuffed my glove in the intake and turned her over.

Grandmother responded feebly.

"Phut!"

"The batteries are a little weak," I commended. "They don't give a very good spark when it's so cold".

I adjusted the spark-coils to operate on less current and tried cranking. There was no explosion whatever.

I was beginning to get a little worried. Bill, who stood over me with a gun, seemed a trifle impatient. I could see that he did not believe that I was making an honest effort to start.

"Try it on the magneto" suggested Jim Cooper.

"She never starts on the magneto," I replied.

"Try it anyway," Bill commanded briefly. "And hustle."

So I did. As you may know, starting a motor on the magneto involves spinning the flywheel rapidly for several times before enough electricity is generated to make a spark. It is one of the most heartbreaking exercises I know of, especially when the motor has excellent compression such as Grandmother Page boasted.

The perspiration dripped from my brow and my arm seemed like a leaden weight that was about to drop off.

I paused for breath.

"Now you quit your kidding," snarled the highwayman, shoving the muzzle of the revolver under my nose, "Take off that coat and make her go. Take it off, I say!"

I obeyed. Neither of us was prepared for what followed. I had forgotten the white tights, which were all I wore beneath my overcoat, and he, of course, was not expecting me to look as pale as I did.

His jaw fell and his arm dropped limp at his side.

"W-w-what are you?" he asked.

It was probably the only opportunity that I would have and I made the most of it. As the muzzle of the gun dropped I jumped for him and pinned his arms at his sides.

We rolled over and over in the snow, the revolver exploding as we fell.

Sometimes weight is an advantage. This was a case in point. In two minutes I was sitting on his chest and had taken his weapons away from him.

Finger on trigger, ready to fire. I looked around for the other bandit.

"Where is he?" I asked.

"Gone," replied Maryella. "He ran away when he saw you were winning."

"It's all for the best," Jim asseted. "You couldn't fight him and sit on this other gentleman at the same time anyway."

I rose from my seat. "Get up!" I ordered my prisoner.

Got Up In The Morning Feeling DIZZY

"I BEGAN to suffer with headache and biliousness," says Mr. John C. Malone, of Buena Vista, Ohio. "I had a hurting through the middle part of my body which seemed to come from indigestion. I would get constipated, and then feel all out of sorts. I would get up in the morning feeling dizzy, and everything I ate would disagree with me.

"Someone asked me why I did not try Black-Draught. I found it to be just the medicine I needed. When I feel a spell coming on, I begin by taking a dose of Black-Draught, dry, at night. I continue to take it for several days, and in a short while I am feeling fine. It is all the medicine I need."

Costs only 1 cent a dose.

TOWN FOR SALE—

Anybody who would to buy a perfectly good Mississippi town near Houston may get prices and terms from Lake Hays, Memphis. The town, Hansonhurst, includes stores, residences, creamery, ice plant, gin, garage, machine shop, waterworks system, swimming pool, and cotton warehouse.

HONEST WILLIE—

Willie Smith, small kinky-headed Hattiesburg black boy, may be dishonest enough to steal, but he has enough belie fin the merits of justice to stay in jail when he is put there. Willie, penned for pilfering pants from the Hub Penney store, refused to leave when his three cell mates broke jail. Instead he yelled, brought cops running.

SURE SHOT AT 70—

Whomever T. J. Martin, Summit, points a gun at has cause to be nervous. Out of his last 22 shots this 70-year-old farmer has hit 217 times, missed five. Five owls, 21 rabbits, 21 crows, 6 squirrel and 207 hawks have been killed with 222 shots.

RUNAWAY DUNAWAY—

Noah Dunaway, noted jail breaker and auto swiper who escaped from Jackson's pen recently with keys he made from tin cans, was caught again near McComb. Since leaving Jackson he had been down in Louisiana, had swiped a Chevrolet coach and enough groceries to fill it, was leisurely tournig the state.

TOMBIGBEE WHALES—

Amory fishermen have found they do not have to go into frigid Arctic waters to find whales as big as they can handle single handed. Carl Tubb and Era Pennington have each caught 60-pound whales of catfish within the past two weeks. A handsome prize is out for the first 75-pounder.

TOUGH LUCK LONG—

Sam Long, Brookhaven laundryman, has a hard time getting along. Not long ago he was slugged, slashed and robbed. Again last week the same thing happened. Sam has been given much aid, more pity.

KEEPER—

"Since earliest days of the United States, Younghams have kept the lighthouse which has guided ships from the open gulf iinto Biloxi's harbor. Retired on a U. S. pension recently was Miss M. Youngham, light keeper for 52 years, third Youngham to hold the post.

PLANNING METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIS

The First Methodist church Sunday school is planning a picnic, and is making every effort to have an attendance of 125 in Sunday school by Sunday morning. If this goal can be reached a picnic is assured and will be held Memoriail Day, May 30, on a picnic ground to be selected. The pastor, superintendent and teachers of the Sunday school urge every boy and girl and their parents to be present Sunday morning.

Beautiful Dahlias.

Among those who are growing some lovely dahlias at the present time are Miss Ruth Shrecht, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Day, Mrs. Octave Fayard, Mrs. E .J. Lacoste and Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Rea. Handsome blossoms from the plants in these yards have given their friends much pleasure.

TOURNAMENT FOR TENNIS PLAYERS AT INN BY THE SEA

Horace Leche, Jr., of Bay St. Louis, Is Chairman of Tournament, June 22 to July 4.

An announcement of much interest to tennis players along the Coast is that of the Inn by the Sea's First Annual Tennis Tournament to be held on the courts of this popular Coast hotel June 22 to July 4. Roger Generelly of the hotel will be referee, and Horace Leche, Jr., has been named chairman of the tournament committee.

The tournament will be open to all Coast residents and visitors and prospects are that there will be a number of entries. Already assurances have been made by the Biloxi Tennis Association that at least ten entrants will be sent by this organization.

There will be five classes, men's singles and doubles, ladies singles and doubles and mixed doubles. Loving cups will be given for all winners and runnersup in each class.

Details of rules and registration will be announced in the near future, Mr. Leche stated.

Fishing Trip

A party including R. L. Genin, Dr. C. M. Shipp, H .C. Glover and W. D. Hays, enjoyed a pleasant fishing trip to Ship Island ,going over last Thursday and returning Friday night. The fishermen report plenty of small fish but no large ones, the high winds being prohibitive for the best sport in fishing.

Just a Matter of $26,500,000

THE L. & N., in 1928 received only 80 cents and 5 mills for hauling the same quantity of freight that it received $1.00 for in 1921. This represents a reduction in the average rate per ton mile from 1.057c in 1921 to .851c in 1928, or about one-fifth of a cent. The reduction sounds insignificant in itself, but, applied to the 1[illegible],920,000,000 ton miles transported in 1928, it means that the L. & N's shipping patrons in 1928 saved over $26,500,000 as compared with what they would have paid at the 1921 rate per ton mile.

This vast saving, coupled with the greatly improved service, faster schedules, and prompter delivery of freight, is typical of the railroad service throughout the U. S. These items represent some of the benefits the shipping public is now enjoying at the hands of these railroads as a result of the tremendous investment of over $700,000,000 annually in the past nine years for property improvements, notwithstanding the fact that the railroads have never earned the fair return on their property which is allowed by law.

Don't forget that the railroads of this country furnish better and cheaper transportation service than those of any country in the world.

BAY CITY WATERWORKS' FACTS AND FIGURES PROVES PLANT'S SUCCESS

City Has Cash Balance on Hand of $9.688.24—Reduction In Rate Is Probable—Commissioner Ladner Gives Interesting Talk on Subject.

Sylvan J. Ladner city commissioner of public utilities, and that means in charge of the waterworks system, since the city owns no other public utilities, gave quite an interesting array of figures before the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis during an address before that body on that phase of the city's interest over which he has direct jurisdiction.

The figures show the system is self-sustaining and nets a profit. In fact so ably and economically handled by the commission form of government, that it is hinted, with a balance of $9,688.24, and the forthcoming income for the year, 1929-30 approximately $10,000.00, a reduction in the rate is not only possible but probable. This will be good news to the tax-payers, besides the satisfaction of knowing how economically and successfully the system's affairs are handled.

From Commissioner's address we gather the following figures:

Balance on hand January 1, 1928, $3,587.20.

There were laid during last year 1297 feet of 3-inch pipe; 5,944 feet 2-inch pipe and 433 feet 4-inch pipe, thus expanding the system and increasing the usefulness of the system.

In order to conform with the public work of boulevard and seawall building, there was a change made of 4-inch pipe, 1010 feet from head of St. Charles street to the Stewart property.

Under same conditions there were dropped to a lower level by rebuilding a 4-inch on beach between Felicity and Boardman avenues, over 2000 lineal feet.

On July 1, 1928 interest paid on outstanding bonds, $2,130.00. Paid on January 1, 1929, $7,130.00, of which $5,000 retired bonds in that amount.

In addition to the above improvements and attending expenses, the city paid an average of $600.00 per month for salaries and general maintenance.

At the present time outstanding bonds on city waterworks plant $66,000, on which $5,000 is retired every six months plus interest.

It is noted that during the past year the city had the watertower repainted for $275.00. The original price asked for doing this hazardous work was $750.00.

It will also be noted after perusing the foregoing, not only is the waterworks system a success, financially and as to service, but that it is a boost for the commission form of government, and also speaks well for the administration.

"LONG MERELY OUT ON BAIL." SAYS N. O. STATES EDITORIAL.

Masterful Lead N. O. Press Sizes Situation—Says Long "Not Vindicated."

Declaring that Governor Long "has not been vindicated" but has merely obtained, "through the disqualification of fifteen of the jurors a mistrial and his release on bail," The New Orleans States prints on Sunday the following editorial on its front page:

"Only Out on Bail"

"Dispatches from Baton Rouge say that Governor Long has set two dates in July for the recall of Represntative Edwards of West Carroll and Bacon of Webster.

"These two gentlemen were among the fifty-nine who voted in the House for the impeachment of Governor Long. They listened to the sworn evidence presented and, guided by their consciences and believing that the gravity of the charges required investigation, cast their votes in favor of an investigation by the Senate as much in the interest of Goveror Long as of the people of the state.

"When the Governor went barnstorming over the state he announced his intention to seek the recall of members of the House who had voted against him and it was at his instance that recall petitions were circulated in Webster and Bossier parishes.

"It would seem to us that if the Govenor were wise, he would interest himself in having the recall petitions withdrawn and the elections cancelled.

"If the Governor had not evaded a trial but gone before the Senate court of impeachment for vindication and after all the evidence had been presented been acquitted by that august body, there might be some excuse for his attempt to dispossess members who had opposed him of their seats and sought to replace them with other representatives in sympathy with himself and his administration and policies.

"But the Governor did not do this. Instead, he used every resource at his command to dodge a trial, to prevent the hearing of the evidence on the charges lodged against him, and finally, when forced to the bar, escaped a verdict by means of an extraordinary robin signed by a little more than a third of the membership who, in violation of their oaths and their pledges to the people, declared that regardless of the evidence—even if Huey Long was shown to be guilty of embezzlement, corruption, oppression and a host of other offenses classed under the heading of high crimes and misdemeanors—they would declare him not guilty.

"Governor Long, therefore, has not been vindicated. [illegible]

Chief Justice, on his own motion or on the petition of the majority of the court, sees fit to reconvene that body and call him again to answer.

ORGANIZE CLUB AT KILN HI

Smith-Hughes Leaders Organize Community Club; Elect Officers and Name Committee.

At the closing meeting of the Farmer's Night School, conducted by the Smith-Hughes vocational instructors, Tuesday May 8, there was organized the Kiln Community Organization. J. R. Wolfe was elected president of the organization; while A. W. Thigpen was elected vice-president, and Prof. E. E. Lumpkin was elected secretary.

The following committee were named to serve the organization: J. R. Wolfe, E. E. Lumpkin and Mrs. C. H. Wagner, program committee; livestock, J. J. Yoder, C. H. Wagner, and A. W. Thigpen; crops and fruit, Sam Favre, B. F. McAllister, and G. B. Sornsen.

The organization will meet the first and third Tuesday nights of each month.

The membership of this organization may consist of any farm men and women, or other business people who are interested in the improvement of farming interests of our community.

The committees have the yearly programs worked out.

The following is a tentative group of plans made by the various committees for the Kiln community organization to carry out during this year.

Live Stock Committee

The live stock committee plans for the ensuing year include the following: To get rid of all scrub and low grade bulls, and boars on our farms, as well as to encourage our neighbors to sell their scrub sires. Each member of the organization to own at least one good milch cow. Each member to own at least one good breed sow of high grade breeding. Each member of the organization to plant at least one acre of permanent pasture before April 1930, consisting of carpet grass, lespedeza, white clover and paspalum. Each member to grow at least one acre of peas or soy beans in 1929, which he will cut for feer for livestock or turn under as a soil builder. Each family to own at least 50 laying hens and care for them according to the best practices. The organization to have at least one entered in the ten-litter contest, that is make a litter of pigs weight a ton at six months of age. Have all hogs kept on farms as breeders vaccinated for cholera. Grow one acre of potatoes, peanuts ,or chuffas to fatten meat hogs in the fall.

Crops Committee Plans

The crops committe plans for the coming year suggest the following:

All members to fertilize their corn acording to experiment station recommendations. To get three members to enter the three acre corn contest being conducted by the Chilean Nitrate Company. All members to practice planting pure bred crop seed in so far as possible. All members to grow at least four garden vegetables for home use, and can the surplus on the school cannery, or at home. All members to grow enough feed crops for livestock on their farms. All to start home orchards on their farm. All to plant a plot of strawberries for home use. All members to line at least one acre of soil with oyster shell dust.

SHERIFF AND FORCE MAKE RAID SATURDAY.

Sheriff J. C. Jones assisted by Deputies Albert Favre and I. T. W. Mitchell, made a raid Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Bennie Starita. She locked the door refusing admittance to the officers when they went with a search warrant so the officers broke in the door. She broke up five gallons of liquor. She was placed under arrest, and tried Monday morning before Justice of the Peace Frank Guiterrez on a charge of having liquor in her possession, was found guilty, given a fine of $100 and 30 days in jail. She appealed the case and made an appeal bond.

Motor To Lafayette.

Mrs. E. J. Leonhard and A. T. Leonhard, Jr., motored to Lafayette Tuesday spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Heyman. While in Lafayette Mrs. Leonhard will attend an interesting meeting of the Order of Eastern Star of which she holds a state office in Mississippi, that of Grand Marshal for the grand chapter.

MARSHALL BALLARD PRINCIPAL SPEAKER AT SCHOOL CLOSING

Edwardsville School Holds Final Exercises — Splendid Program Marks Event.

O. Item and Tribune was principal Editor Marsrall Ballard of the N. speaker at the closing exercises of Edwardsville county school along with Mayor Charles Traub, Sr., County Supt. of Education J. D. Everett, Jos. C. Jones, Sheriff of Hancock county and others.

The closing of the well-known school, located in the suburbs of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, at Edwardsville, was marked with the rendition of an excellent program, and was an evidence of the excellent training and fine discipline by the principal, Mrs. John Craft.

Hazel Bourgeois, Selma Richardson, Louvenia Bourgeois, Emelda Bourgeois and Mamie Favre, Edward Richardson ,Charles Favre, Albert Woods, Carl Richardson, Henry Carver, Lawrence Fayard and William Favre rendered several recitations with more than ordinary ability.

A number of choruses by the entire school gave much pleasure to the audience. Mamie Favre and William Favre each received a medal for attendance.—In presenting the medals John Craft congratulated the two for not having missed a day since school opened. He stressed the fact that the effort put on winning the medals was very great, as this is a rural school and that during this year, it will be remembered, there has been much high water due to the unusually prolonged and heavy rainfall.

Mrs. Craft as principal worked unflinchingly and with success and her work has given much satisfaction to all concerned, as well as to the county and the department of education which she so ably represents in its efforts to build for better men and women and the future in general.

CITY MAKES SMALL ASSESSMENT MONDAY

One matter of business was transacted Monday morning by the city commissioners at the regular bi-monthly meeting. An assessment of the personal property of the General Electric Company in Bay St. Louis was made for the years 1926 and 1928, this assessment totalling $27, $11 being for 1926 and $16 for 1928. The taxation on this assessment is about 16 cents. The assessment was made at the request of the attorney general of Mississippi.

C. OF C. VISITORS

Among the visitors at the local Chamber of Commerce this past week and who registered were: R. J. Phillen, Rockford, Ill., H. Meckler, Albany, N .Y., and E. Funie, New York City, tourists who with a party were motoring East; Munro Nichols and H. G. Corniel of Jackson, representing the Mississippi Builder; Scott Awtry, Atlanta, foreman with the American Telephone Company now engaged in construction work in this section, and Miss Marguerite Sacredote of Logtown, a student at the Bay High school who will graduate this week.

CITY ECHOES.

—Attorney W. J. Gex was a professional visitor to Jackson this week, returning home Wednesday morning.

—Miss Clara Rogers, teacher in the Central high school, has been confined to her room by illness for about a week. Her condition shows improvement.

—Mrs. J. J. Ritayik of New Orleans was the guest two days this week of Mrs. E. J. Lacoste She plans to occupy her Waveland home in the near future

—Hon. E. J. Adam, president of the board of supervisors of Harrison county, was a welcome visitor to Bay St. Louis Wednesday, on the occasion of the inter-city meeting of the Pass and Bay Rotary clubs.

—Mrs. Juliette B. Caron, sold this week the beach home, formerly known as the Pearl Duble property, to T. W. Benham, of New Orleans, who will make Bay St. Louis his all-year-round home. Mrs. Carmichael local realtor made this sale, one of the best made hereabouts recently.

—Dr. K. F. McRea and wife, of Belmont, Miss. ,and Dr. A. E. Bostick and wife, of Golden, Miss., who were attending the Mississippi State Medical Asociation, at Gulfport a few days since, visited at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. H. Wood, on the beach boulevard. They enjoyed the salt water bathing and were lavish in their praise of this section.

—Attorney George R. Smith, of Pass Christian, numbered with the many Rotarions from Pass Christian visiting Bay St. Louis Wednesday. He returned only a few days since from a trip to California accompanied by his family, which he made by auto, this being one of the several such visits he has made to the far-off Pacific coast.

—Miss Lucille Bienvenu of New Orleans, has recently come to Bay St. Louis and is stopping at the Hotel Weston. Miss Bienvenu is contomation operator for the local Louisville and Nashville Railroad and takes the position formerly held by Miss Charlene Attabury who has been transferred to Tennessee.

—Assuming his new duties about June 17, Prof. Bernard A. Lange, now studying for his degree at Notre Dame University, will become camp director at Camp Tonkawa, the main camp of the Minneappolis Boy Scout Council. Prof. and Mrs. Lange, the latter Miss Myrtle Mader, of Bay St. Louis, before her marriage, will summer at the camp. The new director has had extensive experience in this work and will have charge of over 600 boys.

—Dr. Z. T. Weatherford and Dr. J. Copeland, of Red Bay, Ala., attending the I. C. Surgeons' meeting at Biloxi last week, took occasion of their trip to the Coast to visit Bay St. Louis and were guests at the home of their friend, Dr. H. Ward. Delighted with the coast, especially the beach front of Bay St. Louis. as they expressed it, that Dr. Copeland gave it out that he planned to return and purchase a beach home in order that he may more fully enjoy his advancing years. Dr. Copeland is a retired physician and surgeon.

—H. S. Weston, of Logtown, and president board of supervisors, spent Wednesday in Bay St. Louis, and expressed much interest and satisfaction over the renewed activity of the Louisiana Motor League in the matter of the building a new short-cut road, and hard-surfaced, from New Orleans to this section, and would attend a session of that body shortly in the interest of the project. Mr. Weston is the father of good roads and his record in this matter and bridge building is all to the good. It is interesting to note he is still going 100 per cent in pursuit of better roads.

LOCAL DRUG FIRM AWARDED VALUABLE AGENCY FOR SARGON

Never before in the history of the world has the progress of Medical Science been so rapid. One important discovery after another has been made which will have a far-reaching effect upon the health and well-being of mankind. Some of these discoveries are startling in the extreme and absolutely disprove many of the beliefs, practices and theories we have known for a life-time.

As science investigators learn more and more about the human anatomy, the practice of medicine changes—the old is discarded for the new.

As a result of this world-wide medical research, Science has discovered that good health is largely governed and maintained by three vital organs and fluids of the body. There are the liver, the blood and the endocryne glands.

What is more important, we have learned that these organs and fluids can be stimulated and invigorated by certain basic elements.

Having knowledge of these important discoveries, one of America's leading bio-chemists, succeeded, after two and one-half years of laboratoy research, in combining these basic elements in one formula—which may well be considered one of the greatest health-giving remedies of the age.

It is called Sargon. This formula and the formula for Sargon Soft Mass Pills, which are an essential and integral part of the treatment, are the property of the Sargon Laboratories and can be obtained by no other firm or individual in the world.

This new scientific treatment, which represents much of our latest knowledge on modern therapy, has been acclaimed on modern therapy, has been accalimed by druggists throughout America as a triumph in the field of medicine.

With the needs of their customers uppermost in their minds, leading druggists everywhere have been eager to be among the first to supply it to their trade.

Although introduced in this section only a few months ago, Sargon has already become a household word. In Memphis alone, over 147,000 bottles of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have been sold and distributed by local firms. Nothing like it has ever been seen before.

The exclusive agency for Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills for this city and section has been awarded to the Atlas Drug Store. In anticipation of the enormous demand, this well-known firm has just received a large shipment of these celebrated medicines.—adv.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

A VOICE FROM THE PAST.

Bay St. Louis, Miss., May 22, 1929.
Editor Sea Coast Echo:

I notice, in last week's issue of the Sea Coast Echo, where Mayor Traub stated, at a meeting of the Rotary Club last Wednesday noon, that the City had inherited an $18,000.00 debt, and paid it during the First year of his administration. This is, I think, the fourth time this statement has appeared in your paper; first, in an unsigned write-up, again in an editorial, also, by one or other of the city council. I ignored the first statements, but as it is appearing so regularly, I consider it my duty, in justice to myself and aldermen, to refute these charges.

I, emphatically, deny that we left the city in debt. The advalorem tax, which was due by administration, and unlawfully withheld by the county Board, for purely political reasons, was turned over to the present administration, the first week of their incumbency. This paid the greater part of the debt, leaving a small deficit in the general fund, which was more than covered by the surplus in the waterworks fund; all other funds being even.

Would it not be fairer, if the Mayor would also have stated the condition of the other funds, and how this $18,000.00 was paid. There was a surplus of about $5000.00 or more in the waterworks fund, with the advalorem, due my administration of nearly $13,000.00, (which was turned over to the present administration, as stated above,) totals $18,000.00. Does not this completely cover the so-called inherited indebtedness. Why always harping upon this imaginary debt, why try to pull wool over the public's eyes, and why discredit others by making false statements?

The general fund alone showed a small deficit. What if it did? Did you not get something for your money? What about your public school? Did we not push it through after repeated failures. Was not about $10,000.00 spent for furnishings, for said school? Did we not install drains throughout the city, thereby relieving a large area of flooded streets and yards? Did we not replace the old wooden bridges (with but few exceptions) by concrete drains throughout the city ,thereby eliminating the great expense of repairing old bridges continuously? Did we not move and renew water pipes, wherever necessary while the street paving was going on? Were not all streets kept in good condition? Did we not purchase an automatic pump for the waterworks, which has saved thousands per year? Did we not have two wells drilled, and left sufficient funds to drill another? We also bought 1500 feet of fire hose, $1500.00 worth of fire plugs which were badly needed in some parts of the town, and which, for some reason, are still uninstalled. We left sufficient funds for recovering the reservoir, painting the tower, building the fire engine house, and made provisions for paying the fire engineer's salary. The water works, were put on a paying basis, the school on a cash basis. We bought city and waterworks trucks, a one man grader and we succeeded in paving sidewalks after two unsuccessful attempts by our predecessors.

There seems to be so much mention of the purchase of the present fire engine. Did I not always advocate this. And why was it not purchased during my administration? May I ask why the Echo thought, that the purchasing of a fire engine, during my administration, when the city was prosperous, was "the last straw on the camel's back", and find it O. K. now, when we are going through a business depression, and property is not worth a "Tinker's Damn." The engine could have been purchased ,as easily, by my administration, under the circumstances, without adding one single cent to your taxes. Have you so soon forgotten, that you no longer pay for the seawall by property tax? You were assessed about seven mills to pay this indebtedenss. The assessments were equalized (?) and the levy lowered, yet the majority pay the same tax as last year, and the city revenue is slightly greater, than during my administration. Why brag?

I hate notoriety, and I hope will be the last time I will be forced to explain my administration.

G. Y. BLAIZE, Ex-Mayor.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

I, Leo W. Seal, Trustee, under the provisions of and by virtue of the authority conferred upon me in a deed of trust made by Ferdinand Demoruelle on the 10th day of February, 1928, to secure a certain indebtedness to Robert L. Genin, and which said deed of trust is recorded in book No. 23, on page 30-31 of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land, in the Chancery Clerk's office in Hancock County, Mississippi. The said Ferdinand Demorelle has failed and refused to pay the full amount due on said note at or since the maturity thereof, and the holder of said note having requested the foreclosure of the said deed of trust.

I will, on

offer for sale and sell at public auction for cash, to the highest and best bidder at the front door of the County Courthouse in the City of Bay St. Louis, during legal hours the following described property situated in Hancock County, Mississippi, and more particularly described in said deed of trust as follows to-wit:

Lot number twenty-seven (27) of the Paradise Point Subdivision of Lots sixteen (16) and seventeen (17) of the First Ward of the City of Bay St. Louis as per map of said subdivision made by the Gulf Coast Engineering Company and filed in the office of the Clerk of the Chancery Court of Hancock County, on January 28th, 1927.

Being the same land conveyed to Ferdinand Demorelle by Addison G. Darden by deed dated the 28th day of October, 1927 and recorded in deed book B-1, on pages [illegible] of the records of deeds of Hancock County, Mississippi.

[illegible] my signature hereto affixed, [illegible]
